DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

- 2. Claims 19 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
- 3. The claimed limitation of no other region similar to the first trigger region, as recited in claim 19, is unclear as to what is meant by the term "similar".
- 4. The claimed limitation of first and second trigger regions not electrically connected to the third and first contact regions, respectively, to have a same potential, as recited in claim 20, is unclear as to the correlation between "the same potentia' and the first and second trigger regions.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 2811

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- 6. Claims 8-21, insofar as in compliance with 35 U.S.C. 112, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kim (5,844,280).

Regarding claims 8-10, 15-17, 19 and 21, Kim teaches in figure 3 a device comprising a semiconductor substrate 1 of a first conductivity type P having a top surface, a first well region 2a of a second conductivity type N disposed in the semiconductor substrate, a second well region 2b of the second conductivity type disposed in the semiconductor, a gap region of the first conductivity type disposed in the semiconductor substrate and separating the first well region from the second well region, a first contact region P+ 3a of the first conductivity type disposed in the first well, a second contact region N+ 4a of the second conductivity type disposed in the second well region and being electrically connected to the first contact region to have a same potential, a first trigger region N+ 6a of the second conductivity type disposed in the first well region and spaced apart from the first and second contact regions, a third contact region P+ 3b of the first conductivity type disposed in the second well region, a fourth contact region N+ 4b of the second conductivity type disposed in the second well region and being electrically connected to the third contact region to have a same potential, a second trigger region N+6b of the second conductivity type disposed in the second well region and spaced apart from the third and fourth contact regions, the first trigger region being positioned such that no other similar region having the not having the second conductivity type lies between the first trigger region and the second trigger region, wherein the first trigger region is spaced apart from the bottom surface of the first well, and wherein the first and second trigger regions contacting the gap and the semiconductor material, and formed on opposite sides of the gap.

Regarding claims 11-12 and 18, Kim teaches in figure 3, the dopant concentrations of the first and second trigger regions are greater than the dopant concentrations of the first well region and the second well region, respectively

Regarding claims 13 and 14, during first and second ESD events, first and third potentials on the first and second conductive structures are greater than second and fourth potentials on the second and first conductive structures, respectively.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 8-21 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

- 8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. References B-C are cited as being related to ESD device comprising two wells.
- 9. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
